LOUISVILLES TO WIN. Cincinnatis Defeat the Brooklyns with Ease and Keep Their Advantage Over the Bostons, Who Ontplny the Browns Quakers Shut Out Pittsburg-Other Games.

The New Yorks couldn't hit the ball yeaterday and were besten by the Louisvilles. This weakness of the local team is nothing new. many of the defeats sustained being due to it.
The Harlom team, however, is still in sixth place, as the Pitteburgs were shut out by the Philadelphias. The latter have been playing tast ball lately, and are now within a couple of games of the 500 mark. The Louisvilles are one point behind the Washingtons. Cincinnati won easily from Brooklyn, so that the Reds hold a lead of twenty-three points over the Bostons, although the champions, in their crip-pled shape, best the St. Louis Browns without trouble. The Cleveland-Baltimore game sched-uled to be played in Philadelphia because of a transfer of dates was postponed on account o wet grounds. The results:

LOUISVILLE, 6; NEW YORE, 6. Louisvilles, July 28.-Louisville won its sighth successive game to-day by bunching hits and bases on bails. Cunningham was a pussio in all but the sixth inning, when Hartman's home run followed two other hits. Louisville went at Rusie after that and hit him hard enough to win. Van Haltren played a star fielding game, and Wagner was much in evidence at the right time with his bas, notably when he hit for four bases, with all the bags occupied. Pitcher Carriel, lately signed by New York, reported to-day. The New Yorks scored one in the first on Tiernan's single, Ritchey's error and George Davis's long fly. The bases were filled with no one out in the dy. The bases were filled with no one out in the last half on two bases on balls and a buns. Wagner then drove one to left centre for lour bases. After that Harry Davis doubled and Elicher secrifieed, but the next two were easy. In the sixth George Davis singled and was forsed by Gleason. Dorie rapped a two-bagger to left and the kid scored. Hartman next drove a home run to right centre, and the score was led. It was not tied for long, as in the seventh Louisville scored twice. Hoy singled, and, after Decker had sacrificed, wagner and Harry Davis singled, Wagner coming home when Davis started for second. The score:

CINCINNATI, 7; BROCELYN, 1.

CINCINNATI, July 28.—It looks as if the Brocklyn series would let the Beds get a telling boost pennantward. The visitors were clearly outpiayed to-day in every particular, not having a ray of hope after the second inning. Rennedy was batted freely and was especially ineffective at critical stages. Hawley, while found for nine scattering hits, was unyielding with men on the bases. The first half of the game was played in semi-darkness, black clouds covering the sky and threatening rain, which finally fell for fifteen minutes in the fourth inning play being supepnded. Griffin made a catch that was decidedly the fielding feature of the same, and Haliman at second played brilliantly, in marked contrast with the rest of the Brocklyn infield. The score:

Ed Lock, Reed Bird, and O. M. C. in Front at Island Park.

Albany, July 28.—With the exception of the first race, the events on to-day's card at Island Park were three-host affairs. In the 2:10 trot Ed Lock was a prime favorite from the beginning, but broke badly in the third heat and was beaten out by Neva Wilkes, however, wen the fifth heat and race in a hard drive with L.00. Dan M., who was a strong favorite in the 2:10 pace, would not score properly. He was tasted far back of the field in each heat and could not best O. M. O. out with this handicap. The winner of each race was driven to a new mark. Summaries:

tional and won all the way from Continental. The others cut no figure after a furlong, Sensational winning by a length and a haif, while continental was five lengths clear of Hanwell.

The only stake event on the card was the Spinster, for two-year-old fillies. Although conceding from ten to twenty-three pounds to her rivals, Whiplash was plunged on as a certainty. She had the speed of her field to the stretch, but then weight told, and in a head-and-head finish she was beaten by both Fast Black and Florence Brockenridge.

Her Own won the first mee all the way from three opponents, the favorite, Banquo II., being second. Sombre was played off the boards, to beat three rival two-year-olds in the second race, but she wound up at the wrong end, St. Clair winning by a length from Hapsburg. Tabouret ran her three opponents into the ground in the third race, and King T, secred a clever victory in the last race after a mile brush through the homestretch with the favorite, Doggett, Summary:

The Harness Winners at Dover.

Dover, N. H., July 28.—The threatening weather caused the attendance to drop off to-day at the New England Circuit meeting. The track was fast and each race was hothy contested. Delto, a local horse, won the unfinished 2:17 pace. The field oversold Chelses, the winner of the 2:14 pace, $85 to $24. The deciding heat was a neck-and-neck race throughout between Chelses and Sciavonic. The 2:22 pace was captured by Susie T. after a hard struggle with Collie B. The 2:18 trot was unfinished. FIRST DAY AT SARATOGA. Good Sport, but Small Attendance-Mar-blehead's Congress Hall Stakes.

Sanaroga, July 28.-The Saratoga Racing Association's meeting opened this alternoon. The weather was fine, but the attendance was poor, there being less than 2,000 persons present. This did not hurt the sport, however, which was first class in every way. The feature of the day was the Congress Hall Stakes for two-year-olds, for which a field of eight started, Soi and Ethelbert being the only absentees. Dr. Eichberg, with Sloan up, was the favorite, but failed to land the money. Counsellor Wernberg showed the way until well into the stretch, where Marblehead and Satirist went to the front. The pair had it out hammer and tongs to the finish, with Marblehead the winner

It was a good day for the layers, as not one favorite got home in front. Tod Sloan made his first appearance in the saddle in two weeks on Loiterer in the first race, but finished in the ruck. His brother, "Cash," got Miss Miriam, a 20 to 1 chance, home the winner of the race a 20 to 1 chance, home the winner of the race by a length. With Tod on Nearest, the second race looked easy for her, but when it came to racing there was only one in it. Twinkler, who went into the lead on the backstretch and won Tuesday and did not go West. went into the lead on the backstretch and won as he pleased by three lengths. Havoe was considered the best of the lot that ran in the fourth race, but as usual the favorite was beaten. Handball and Boy Orator, the latter at 10 to 1, furnished a grand race through the stretch, but although Handball was catchng Boy Orator at every jump, he just falled to get up. Boy Orator winning by a nose. Had he not been shut off on the far turn. Handball would have been an easy winner. In the closing race Kinley lack, the second choice, made all the running and won after a drive by a length from the tavorite, Piccola.

Bydney Paget will ask as timer here during the remainder of the meeting, and Pair Dwyer will be one of the stewards for the association for an indefinite period. Summary:

Gossip of the Ring.

Both Billy Ernst and Joe Gans posted $100 forfer yesterlay to clinch their coming twenty-five-round bout at Coney Island on Aug. 8.

Prof. Jimmy De Forrest saves that he is ready to match his colored protego, Al Johnson, against Tim Callaban of Philadelphia at 115 pounds. The Olympic Athletic Club of San Francisco is anxious to have George Dixon return to 'Frisco and meet Solly Smith in a twenty-round bout.

Jemmy Curian, the crack English lightweight, will make his first appearance to night in a six-round bout at Philadelphia against Jack Bennett of Pittsburg.

bout at Philadelphia against Jack Bennett of Pittsburg.

Terry McGovern and Tim Callahan have made another match. The pair will box twenty-five rounds before one of the local clubs within two weeks. They will clash at 114 pounds.

Tim McGrath, trainer of Tom Sharkey, thinks John Boot of Chicago, who whipped Tom Lansing, is a wonder and is anxious to match him against the winner of the Creadon-Bonner bout.

There is every indication that the twenty-five-round bout between decrye Green, known as 'Young Corbett,' and Mysterious Billy Smith, which is to be decided at the Lenon A. C. to-night, will be a very had afair. Both men are in rare form, and Green still tiles the favorite at 100 to 80. Tornmy Byan will in all probability meet the winner. Ex-Champion Jim Corbett will be in Green's corner to advise him.

George Rerwin, the "mystery," is in this city look-all probability meet the winner. Ex-Champion Jim Corbett will be in Groen's corner to advise him. George Kerwin, the "invstery," is in this city looking for something to do. Kerwin is under the management of Fred Voigt of Newark, who wants to secure a match for Kerwin assinst any 183-pound man. Spike Sullivan. Dal Hawkins, Frank Erne, Jack Downer, or Danny McBride preferred. Harry Forbes, another Wesiern boxer, who is also under Volgt's wing, is resily to tackle any of the Fastern boxers weighing between 110 and 115 pounds.

A meeting will probably take place to-day between George Considine and Billy Delancy for the purpose of arranging a match between Jim Corbett and Jim Jeffries, to take place two weeks after Corbett's encounter with "Kid" McCoy. Considine said last night that Corbett would not meet Scarkey, as the latter was whipped by Jeffries. Any money which Delaner will put up, Considine states, will be immediately covered. Considine states, will be immediately covered. Considine further and that "Honest" John Kelly had maily made up his mind to act as ref. ree in the meeting between Corbett and McCoy at Buffalo.

Another match between Kid McPartland and Jack Daly will take place in the near future. Yesterday afternoon Sam Fitzpatrick met McPartland's representative, and, after a brief session, articles of agreement were drawn up and signed. The document calls for a contest of twenty-five rounds at 184 pounds, the same conditions practically which characterized their last battle, No club or date has been fixed for the flay, but the club donating the best inducement will secure the mill. Sum said that in all posability the night will be decided at Burialo before the Olympic A. C. Daly intends to go to Ball-shot Spa and train with Kid McCoy.

George Considine said has night that up to date spike Bullivan has not covered Kid Lavigne's $1,000.

ston Spa and train with Rid McCoy.

George Considing said last night that up to date Spike Silvan has not covered Rid Lavigne's $1,000, although the former has had ample time to come forward with his cash. "I think Spike is crawing," said Considing. "Lavigne will concede anything to get him into the ring, but I think it will be a hard task. It is evident that he is afraid to meet the champion, who has waived corrything to make Sulivan fight." Spike is still in Besten arguing a match with "Spide" Kelly of San Francisco. Tom Sharkey is prepared to back Kelly to the extent of $5,000, but Sullivan declares he will not go on at any other conditions than 134 pounds. Kelly replied that he cannot battle at any waight less than 185 pounds, and thus the matter stands.

NEWS OF THE WHEELMEN.

L. B. POTTER MAY BE NOMINATED FOR CHIEF CONSUL OF THE STATE.

The Committee Will Select the Division Officers To-Night and the Election Will Take Pines in the Fall-Some Riders Say That High Gears Are Losing Ground. To-night there will be a meeting of the Nominating Committee of the New York State Division of the L. A. W., at which names will be pre-sented for the offices of Chief Consul and Vice-

Consul, to be voted upon next fail. Many candidates are in the field. Judge C. E. Simms, Jr., who last year was talked of as an opposition candidate to Walter Jenkins, is one who would probably accept the office of Chief Consul and who would make an excellent executive officer. Milo M. Belding, the present Vice-Consul, de serves promotion, and by some it is thought hopes for it. Louis Bosenfeld, Senior Consul of the local Consulate, has done some strong work for the division in this city. and it is thought by more than a few that he would be a reasonable candidate. Charles F. Cossum of Poughkeepsle is another who has been mentioned in the political circles of the League as a good man who would like the office. The question of I. B. Potter again becoming the executive head of the State has not been broached until within a few weeks. Poster will not again run for the Presidency. Some think that he is sorry he has it now. The greatest work that he has done has been in this State and a great many consider him to be the only logical candidate for Chief Consul. He built up the membership of the division, and now that it is losing so rapidly it is thought that he is the only man who could restore the State leadership in the ranks of the League. It is not unlikely that the Nominating Committee will to-night name Potter. He has made some enemies and some opposition is likely to be made if he concludes to run for Chie Consul, but the difficulty of his antagonists will be to find a capable man who is well enough known to have a chance and is willing to run against such a hard-fighting politician as Potter has shown himself to be. That he will accept the nomination is assured by the fact that it has several times been said that he could not be elected. Potter has carned a reputation as a fighter on political fields, and right along in his career it has been demonstrated that the sure way to make him go after any office was for some one to say that he could not get it.

any office was for some one to say that he could not get it.

The man who controls the front handle bars of a multicycle in a paced race is not at all appreciated. The general public has not the faintest idea of the amount of physical strength and good headwork it requires to steer one of the four, five or six scated machines used for pulling along the men who ride paced races. There is a constant strain on the steersman of a multicycle that is almost enough to pull his arms from their sockets and to make him too nervous to sleep well. On the steersman rests the entire responsibility of keeping the machine steady, picking up the men properly and awiding accidents. It takes muscle and nerve and quickness of perception in large quantities for a man to occupy the front seat of a multicycle, and if the lovers of paced racing appreciated this better and watched the steersman more they would find additional pleasure in watching the contests of the men behind the big machines.

It is believed by a few riders who make it a big machines.

It is believed by a few riders who make it a habit to be observing that high gears are losing ground. By this is meant the gears of 00 and above that many riders have been using for ordinary road travel. In the spring there were quite a number of wheelmen to be found abroad with gears ranging from 90 to 120, but now it is a rare thing to find a person on the road with a gear higher than 84 or 84. The inability of riders to get up headway quickly and jump their wheels when the exigencies of the road required it and the impossibility of quickly bringing a wheel with a very high gear to a standstill have been responsible for many accidents. It is probable that the collisions in which they have been involved and the narrow escapes that they have had have been influential in making a number reduce the size of their gears. For the general good the reduction of gears is something to be commended, but there are yet very many who have not learned through experience the wisdom of so doing, and apparently will not learn in any other way.

Otto Dorner, Chairman of the National L. A. W. Committee on Highway Improvement, has awarded the $125 offered in cash prizes for the best pictures of poor roads submitted by members. The first prize of $50 goes to J. I. Phillips of Mannington, W. Va., for a photograph showing a stretch of wretched highway slong the bank of a river where all the conditions for drainage required for a fine road were right at hand. The road as shown by the picture looks like a bit of bare mud flats when the tide is out. The second prize, of $25, was awarded to E. P. Richards of Ciyde, O. This also shows a quagmire supposed to be a road, and which would be one if the idea of drainage was understood by the farmers who built it. The $15, as third prize, was awarded to Miss Teanie Jury. Ash Grove, Mo. and the fourth prize, of $5, to Fred H. Patch, Rushprize, of $5, to A. O. Card and A. Swindelis, 23 Aborn street. Providence, R. I.: the eighth prize, of $5, to F. L. It is a peculiar thing that in Malta the roads are hard and smooth in the winter time, or at least what to the North Americaa is winter. This statement is based on the report of United States Consul John H. Grout, Jr., who says that between May and November most of the persons who ride wheels are not there. The foreign population arrives in the fall and leaves in the soring. The wheels used in Malta are chiefly of English manufacture, according to Consul Grout's returns. A few American bicycles are seen, but, according to his observations, they are wheels which have been especially ordered. They are well liked by their owners and, he thinks, cavied by those who ride machines made in Great Britain. In the opinion of the Consul it would require only a little enterprise of the kind found here to introduce a long line of American bloycles in Malta. Consul Grout may be in the habit of recommending everything that is made in the land of the Stars and Stripes, but it will be interesting to wheelmen to know that Consuls in overy foreign land report that American bleycles are being considered the best of all. This should make the buyers here feel pleased with their bargains, no matter what they may have paid. According to Consul Grout those who ride bleycles in the list of Malta wait things that will last and are worth the money. Therefore he advises American makers not to attempt to introduce any shoddy goods. Single-tube tires have not yet gained ascendancy in Malta. The rongh-tread, inner-tube, English-made tires have the call. It is a quaint contrast to montion the fact that lamps are not much used in Malta, according to the report of Consul Grout. Hapd repair kits, he thinks, would find a good market, American pedals are almost the only thing used in this isle of the sea. Hieycles are soid at prices ranging almost the only thing used in this isle of the sea. Hieycles are soid at prices ranging almost the only t

CLAPP'S STYLE OF FAULTING. His Secret of Success Is a Radical Change in Method. Since R. G. Clapp astonished the athletic world by clearing 11 feet 10% inches in the pole vault, ordinary students of form have been at a loss to account for the great superiority shown by the Yale athlete over his predecessors at the game. Hugh H. Baxter, who for years held. the American record, and who was the greatest vaulter of his day, throws a light on the vexed question. Baxter has made a close study of the champion and declares that he inaugurates a new style of vaulting, the efficiency of which s unquestioned. He contends that the success of Clapp is attributable to style. There are two features of Clapp's style which differ entirely from the method in vogue pre-vious to his appearance in the field. The innovation is being copied by such a well-known trainer as Mike Murphy, who, quick to perceive the advantage to be gained by imitating a suc-cessful rival, has impressed on J. L. Huribus of the chief obstacles which confront an aspirant for the pole-vaulting record is the difficulty of straightening the pole after raising from the ground. The backward jar received when the pole is jammed in for the take-off renders the recovery of the perpendicular with sufficient volition to clear the advisability of using Clapp's method. One perpendicular with sufficient volition to clear the bar extremely uncertain for old-timers. Clapp does not jerk back in this manner, but swings off from the ground with a pendulum action. Thus his body is carried upward with the pole, instead of pushing off from it. His hand action is also entirely original. Hitherto vaulters in this country have never made more than one movement with the hands before releasing the pole. Baxter used to run to the standards with the hands wide apart, and not move them until he thrust himself from the pole.

icasing the pole. Baxter used to run to the standards with the hands wide apart, and now move them until he thrust himself from the pole.

The other style is to carry the hands in the same fashion as Baxter until the take-off, when the lower hand will slide up close to the other, and the vaulter will shoot over the bar in this manner. Clapp makes two distinct motions with his hands before releasing the pole. He runs to the jump with hands wide apart, slides the lower hand up in much the same manner as other vaulters, but just on turning to shoot over the bar he drops the lower hand about a foot and a half. It is this final movement which evidently accounts for the certainty with which he clears the bar when once high enough in the sir. The second movement in no way conflicts with the rule which distinguishes the American from the English style, which stipulates that no competitor shall, during his vault, raise the hand which was uppermost when he left the ground to an higher point of the pole, nor shall he raise the hand which was uppermost when he left the ground to any point on the pole above the other hand.

That Clapp should have eclipsed the English record, made under conditions which allow a man to practically climb the pole by lifting one hand over the other, speaks volumes for the efficiency of his style, which, though so effective, is undeniably a clean vault. Of the possibilities under the new style ex-Champion Haxter is very hopeful. With due allowance for a modest estimate of his own abilities Baxter sopinion of the capability of Clapp may be summed up in the following:

"I have allways had an idea that I could defeat any of the clampions that have appeared since my time, and that it was possible to clear twolve feet in the pole vault, but, after watching Clapp, I am sure that with his style he can clear It feet is inches as easily as I could get over 11 feet in my best day."

Newburn Makes a New World's Becord for the Long Jump.

Particulars of the athletic meeting between Ireland and Scotland have arrived by the latest mail. The most noteworthy performance was that of W. J. M. Newburn, who eclipsed his own world's record for the broad jump by covering 24 feet % inch. The meeting took place at made the previous record about a month ago. So far no question has been raised by the authorities as to the genuineness of Newburn's 23 feet 0% inches, and in all probability the slight fall from the take-off to the landing place which existed when J. Purcell cleared nearly which existed when J. Purcell cleared nearly 24 feet has been remedied. Though the turf at Ball's Bridge is most favoranie to a jumper, the fact that Newburn cleared 23 feet 7 inches at Stanford Bridge, where no other man has accomplished more than 22 feet 8 inches, negatives the idea of any undue advantage having been received.

Treland gained an overwhelming victory over Sectiand, her representatives winning nine of the eleven events. High Welsh saved the visitors from a Waterloo by winning the half mile and mile. In the latter event he broke the provious frish record by covering the course in a minutes 21 2-5 seconds. T. F. Kiely threw the 16-pound nammer 146 feet 10 inches, beating his own Irish record by 1 foot 10 inches, Directly afterward the hammer thrower proved his versatility by winning the 120-yard hurdle race.

English swimmers are still showing remark-ans versatility by winning the 120-yard hirdle race.

English swimmers are still showing remarkable form, a new world's amateur record resulting from the one-mile anateur championship at bouthport on July 10. Forcy Cavill, the Australian, was expected to make a good showing, but he retired at a quarter of a mile. The holder of the title, J. A. Jarvis, eventually won by eight yards in 26 minutes 37 1-5 seconds, beating Tyers's record by nearly ten seconds.

VIENNA, July 28.—The second game of the tie match between Pillsbury and Tarrasch was played to-day, and was wen by Pillsbury. Each has now won a game.
